Our Project News

Welcome to the 2nd Newsletter of the UTOPIA project where we will share updates on project news!

Piloting sessions

The partners have completed the piloting sessions of the Youth Worker's Activity Guide. The activities facilitated by the youth workers took place at the partners' facilities and aimed at testing the practicality and relevance of the guide designed to foster intercultural dialogue among young people.

Participants rated the training highly for its relevance and practicality, stated that they liked the initiative of the project and found the concept of intercultural dialogue practices very interesting and efficient. They showed interest in reading the Guide and expressed their desire to participate in other similar activities.

Youth Workers' Guide for Intercultural Dialogue Facilitation

This guide equips young people, with the guidance of youth workers, to develop vital intercultural sensitivity skills, enabling them to act as agents of dialogue and social transformation. At the same time, youth workers will gain hands-on experience with non-formal educational methods, focusing on collaborative and experiential learning techniques in intercultural dialogue.
